

"I want you to be free from anxieties." (1 Corinthians 7:32) The March 17th daily lectionary reading could not have been more on target, along with the first line of the daily Psalm, "I will bless the LORD at all times; His praise shall continually be in my mouth." And then: "Give ear to my words, O LORD, give heed to my sighing. Listen to the sound of my cry, my King and my God, for to you do I pray. O LORD, in the morning you hear my voice; In the morning I plead my case to you, and watch."

This is the first time in my memory that we have faced a problem of both national and international proportions. However, plagues and famines are not new to the world, and they are not new to the people of God, Israel and the Church. We have faced them before and always God works for His people. Remember first that God is for us and supremely for us in Jesus Christ. Our salvation and ultimate destiny are assured in Christ's work on the Cross. Nothing can change that or separate us from the saving power of God in Christ through the Holy Spirit.

That being said we are living here on this earth in this difficult time, a time new to us. Always in times of impending crisis, the church, God's people, has turned to Psalms. The Psalms walk us through all human emotions. They do not restrict us to prayer and praise and rose-colored sunsets. They speak honestly about pain and grief and yes, even doom. And they always point us to the saving power and glory of God. We pray the Psalms of challenge when we know that only God can intervene for us. This does not mean that we are fatalists, or "quietists, people who do nothing. We are also called to take actions on our part. The first action to take is to turn or return or begin to pray the Psalms. They are a potent way to begin your day, for yourself and now for the world.

Now I think we can turn to the Mastodon in the room. The Corona Virus and the resulting illness it causes are new to us. We cannot control it but we can do a good bit to protect ourselves and our neighbors. I am sure that you have heard all this many times but I will reiterate the common sense actions.

These are from GOOGLE: DO THE FIVE: Help stop coronavirus

It is dangerous and possibly deadly to certain populations of people, particularly those over 60 and persons with underlying conditions of illness or disease, particularly respiratory. If you are in these groups be particularly careful of yourself. For others the effects vary from unnoticeable to miserable. There is danger in having the virus, not knowing it and spreading it to others. Limit your physical contacts with other people as much as possible. How far and to how many will the virus spread? We don't know. Estimates range from far less than the flu of a normal flu season to astronomical. The likelihood is that it will spread to a high point that we don't know, then diminish and possibly vanish.

It is, I believe, this uncertainty that disturbs us so much. We are not in control in a nation of control freaks. This is the time to realize that God is the same yesterday, today, and tomorrow and is drawing the world into His purposes. I think that if we realize that the greater underlying issue exposed here is our anxieties and that it is in turning fully to God as revealed in Scripture there can be a great healing of our lives and nation and world.

The take-away here is be careful, limit your exposure, and deepen your prayer life. Watch and see what God is doing through this time through we His church.

In this time of physical separation we must stay connected. This is a time to reach out to our immediate family, friends, neighbors, and fellow church members. God may call us to do more than that. We will watch and see. This is a time when technology can help us. Phone calls, text and email are our first go-tos. This is a time to help, protect, and serve even in the face of danger. Our faith calls us to be for others, yes, even in times like these.

Herein outline my thoughts for action:

- Pray the Psalms, begin with one more each morning. Read it through, think about what it says, and pray its concerns.
- Take common sense actions to protect yourself
- Discover how you can be of service to the vulnerable

Looking to the future: How will we continue as a church? Who will we speak to as witnesses to what God has done for us in Christ, and how? I do not want us to forget the primary, some would say only, purpose of the church, to be a witness to Jesus' full story. There will be opportunities here for us. We can learn and grow and deepen our faith. We can hear God's call into His unknown future. We are much like Abraham being called to a land we do not know. We are, being called "into the strange new world of the Bible."

by Pastor Pete

Pastor Pete is presenting a daily video message- mostly working through the Psalms and including music selections. You can find his message on Youtube, on the Poke Run Facebook page, and Twitter, and those on the "Ranger" email list are receiving a daily email. If you need help connecting to these messages, contact the church office.

The Poke Run Session voted to

April 1, 2020 - Motion Approved:

Due to the unknown nature of both the Coronavirus and how long government restrictions will be in place we think it wise to suspend all gathered church activities until we feel it is safe to resume them.

Though we're not together for worship, we can continue to remember the Church Calendar at this very special time in our Christian walk— see below:

Palm Sunday begins Holy Week, a time in the church year when we remember how Christ gave his life in love for the world. As this service opens, the crowd waves palm branches, wanting to crown Jesus as king. But as the story of the passion unfolds, their shouts of praise turn to demands for his crucifixion; he receives a crown of thorns as he is handed over to be mocked and killed.
Palm Sunday April 5th

Maundy Thursday begins the “Three Days”, remembering the new commandment that Christ gave us in word and deed as he taught us how to love one another, washing our feet as a servant. We also celebrate the Lord’s Supper, remembering the meal Christ shared with his disciples before his death.
QUESTION—WHAT DOES MAUNDY MEAN? From Google:
History and Etymology for maundy. Middle English maunde, from Old French mandé, from Latin mandatum command, order; from the words spoken by Jesus to his disciples after washing their feet at the Last Supper, “a new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another” (John 13:34 Authorized Version) Maundy Thursday April 8th

Good Friday is the day we remember Jesus’ crucifixion. It is an especially important time to pray for the church and the world for whom Christ gave his life.
Good Friday: April 10th

The festival of the Resurrection of the Lord, Easter Sunday is the center of the Christian year. On this occasion the church joyfully proclaims the good news that is at the very heart of the gospel: that Jesus Christ is risen from the dead...Easter Sunday is something like the keystone of an arch – the top and center stone upon which all the other stones lean and depend – both in terms of its theological significance and its relation to other events in the Christian year. Theologically speaking, the faith we claim and the life we live depend on the affirmation, celebration and proclamation of Christ’s resurrection. Sunday, April 12th

Mission Challenge: Read the following scripture carefully from Ephesians 3:17b-19. What is it telling you?

*17b*And I pray that you, being rooted and established in love, 18 may have power, together with all the Lord’s holy people, to grasp how wide and long and high and deep is the love of Christ, 19 and to know this love that surpasses knowledge—that you may be filled to the measure of all the fullness of God.

Now pray that you know that you have this love of Christ in you, so that you can share this love with others.

POKE RUN TRUSTEES

The Poke Run Trustees remain active in maintaining the church property and other important and ongoing matters. Continue to keep this group in your prayers as they keep things operational and safe.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN NEWS

Circle 2 will follow the Church's meeting policy and will resume when it is safe to do so. THANK YOU—to Bob Thompson for sharing the below poem written by his mother Betty, a cherished Poke Run Presbyterian Woman:

Gods Love Easter Promise

God's love is a beautiful thing, It fills the world with a radiant spring.
And after the snow storms have all gone away, The sun fills the earth with a beautiful ray.
And even on days when clouds do appear, You will feel Gods presence, his love is so near.
Christ fulfilled Gods promise that day on the cross, He shed his blood to keep us from loss.
Then he suffered and died to make victory ours, His symbols alive in all the spring flowers.
He promised us life, if we only believe, and accept in our heart, what he came to achieve.
The strength of his presence will make your heart light, He will never leave, nor depart from your sight.
And when the loads heavy, and friends seem not to care, just open your heart, and he'll always be there.
This was the promise, the price he did pay, to make our trials lighter and show us the way.

SUBMITTED-March 26, 2020

Last night I received a phone call that I will remember for a long time. It was from our son, Colin, who lives in South Philly and works at Whole Foods in Center City. He's on the front line to contact covid-19 as he has contact with hundreds of people each day. He has stopped using public transportation because it increases the danger of contracting the virus. Now he walks back and forth two miles to work each day.

Colin did not call to say he had contracted the Coronavirus as I had feared. He called to tell me that he had been "jumped" on his way home from work.

Yesterday as he was walking home in the early evening three youths attacked him. They were hiding in an alley. As he approached the opening the first young man jumped out and punched Colin in the side of his head. Immediately the other two youths grabbed his backpack, using it to throw him to the ground. He got in one good punch before he was overwhelmed. All of the streets of Philadelphia are deserted these days so there was no one to help.

This story is a mother's nightmare but as I pondered it much of last night and today the attack is not what was the most unsettling. It was how Colin was saved. "Mom, I was saved by a homeless guy."

Colin went on to describe how a heap looking like a brown pile of garbage, nothing he ever would have imagined as human, jumped up and started yelling, "You bitches!" The three youths took off running.

The homeless man dressed in brown tattered clothing and draped in a brown blanket helped Colin get up, wiped some of his blood, asked if he was going to be okay and told him to get on home.

I just cannot stop thinking and praying "Thank you, God, for the homeless." I will forever see homeless people with a different eye. One of them was my son's earthly salvation.

This month's mission focus at Poke Run has been "Truly, I tell you, whatever you did for one of the least of these, you did for Me." (Matthew 25:40) It has a much deeper meaning now that the perceived least of these was doing for me.

Our salvation is so very startling and undeserved.

What wondrous love and grace is this???
